Colton Joint Unified School District uses CARES funding to purchase touchless drinking water stations

PHOTO CJUSD

FloWater Touchless Refill Stations have now been installed in all 28 district schools and administrative support sites. With the availability of touchless, foot pedal activation devices, FloWater Refill Stations eliminate the risk of communal surface cross-contamination of COVID-19. Pictured is the water station placed at McKinley Elementary.

With the CDC calling for the replacement of high-touch, communal fixtures, such as water fountains, to reduce the spread of COVID-19, the Colton Joint Unified School District (CJUSD) announced that FloWater Touchless Refill Stations have now been installed in all 28 district schools and administrative support sites. With the availability of touchless, foot pedal activation devices, FloWater Refill Stations eliminate the risk of communal surface cross-contamination of COVID-19, while reducing the time and expense of having their custodial staffs continually wiping down water fountain surfaces.

The District applied for and received a grant to purchase FloWater Refill Stations for qualifying schools before the pandemic from the California's Water Resources Control Board.

Majority Leader Reyes Introduces Bill to Extend Worker Protections to All School Employees

Assembly Majority Leader Eloise Gómez Reyes (D -San Bernardino) introduced AB 438 which would extend existing employee rights and protections to school custodians, bus drivers and other classified employees. AB 438 would ensure classified employees receive the same layoff notice and hearing rights as teachers and certified administrators.

“Classified employees play an essential role on school campuses and in students’ lives. They are the backbone of the education environment as they transport students to and from school, prepare meals, clean classrooms and so much more. It is only fair that we make sure they are extended the same employee protections from layoffs as other school employees.” Majority Leader Reyes continued, “I am proud to author legislation which expands worker rights to employees who have such critical roles for the functioning of our schools”

"Classified staff have shown we are essential to the success of California schools by ensuring students have nutritious meals, safe learning environments, and extra academic help, even in the face of this pandemic, which is why they deserve the same job protections as teachers and school administrators. In the absence of these protections, over 2,000 classified staff have been laid off since last March, even though our schools have not suffered a loss in state funding. I want to thank Majority Leader Reyes for introducing AB 438, which will provide parity in layoff protections for all school employees."

--Ben Valdepeña, Association President, California School Employees Association.

“California’s educators honor the services of classified school employees who partner with us on a daily basis to provide our six million students with a quality public education. A student’s school day begins with the first school bus ride in the morning, and ends when the custodian turns off the lights at night. One of the many hard lessons of this pandemic has been acknowledging the divide that exists in our communities and also in our workplaces. That is why we are cosponsoring AB 438. We believe that in the unfortunate event lay-off notices are issued, classified employees should count on professional rights that provide more stability as they strive to provide for their own families. We look forward to working with Assemblymember Gómez Reyes to ensure notices mirror the timelines of certificated employees.”

-E. Toby Boyd, Kindergarten Teacher/CTA President

"From feeding students, to cleaning classrooms, to ensuring student safety, classified professionals provide critical services every day in our schools that our students need to succeed. For too long, they have not had equal rights under the law when it comes to layoffs. AB 438 corrects this inequity, by making sure that these hard-working professionals have the same rights as teachers, administrators, and other school staff."

--Luukia Smith, Secretary Treasurer of the CFT - A Union of Educators and Classified Professionals.

“AFSCME whole-heartedly supports this bill and is a proud cosponsor. This bill takes a much-needed step to bring the same rights to classified employees as their certificated and academic co-workers. Classified employees are vital for creating and supporting an environment where our kids can learn and grow in a safe space; these employees deserve the same rights as those provided to certificated and academic employees.”

-- Kim Carter Martinez, AFSCME Council 57 Political and Legislative Director

"School workers together create a safe, supportive community in which students can flourish, but those of us who are classified staff - those who clean, provide transportation and food, provide classroom support for students who need additional help, and do other critical work - are too often treated as expendable," said Max Arias, President of SEIU Local 99. "This disregard mirrors inequities in our society and sends a false and harmful message about the value of our contributions to the school community. It needs to change."

Classified employees play a crucial role in the functioning of school and those present on school campuses testify to their importance in the video found here:

AB 438 ensures classified employees are granted protections from layoffs, which is important now more than ever. AB 438 would ensure worker protections for the most underpaid and diverse group of workers on school campus. The wellbeing of our schools depends on the wellbeing of all school employees.

Drinking Water for Schools Grant Program. With a Cares Act grant, the District was able to purchase additional FloWater Refill Stations with hands-free, foot pedal activation devices for the remaining school sites and administrative offices, providing access District-wide to all 22,000 K-12 students and staff.

FloWater’s Advanced Osmosis water purification technology removes up to 99.99 % of all toxins and contaminants in water, including viruses, bacteria, heavy metals like lead and arsenic, chemicals, and microplastics. Self-sanitizing, FloWater Refill Stations also have a large fill area with a fully recessed dispensing nozzle with no bottle contact, eliminating potential cross-contamination from bottle to bottle.

“We initially set out to find a drinking water solution looking at filtration, on-going cost, maintenance and ease of installation and determined that FloWater offered the best product for our students and staff,” said Owen Chang, the District’s Director of Facilities. “Now, with the CARES Act funding, we have added more FloWater Refill Stations and a safer, fully touchless drinking water experience for our community as we plan for safely reopening our facilities.

FloWater Refill Stations are free-standing and easy to install, connecting to any potable water line within 100 feet, meaning that most schools can simply replace their old water fountains in the same location. “Before COVID, we were seeing a high demand as schools looked to eliminate contaminants and plastic waste. Additionally, surveys showed that students drank more water, were better hydrated, had more energy, and consumed less sugary beverages where FloWater Refill Stations were installed. Now, with our fully ‘touchless’ drinking water solution, we are able to meet the national challenge to replace outdated water fountains in our schools,” according to FloWater CEO and Co-Founder, Rich Razgaitis.

“Providing access to safe, good tasting drinking water for our entire school community is a major accomplishment,” noted Dr. Frank Miranda, the District’s Superintendent. “When our students return to campus, we want them to see that we have taken the greatest care to provide for them.”

The FloWater technology also alkalizes and oxygenates the water and adds electrolytes for better hydration. A carbon coconut filter ‘finishes’ the chilled water for a great taste.

San Bernardino County awards $3.4 million in COVID relief grants to 216 nonprofits

In partnership with Inland Empire Community Foundation (IECF), San Bernardino County recently awarded $3.4 million to 216 nonprofits through the San Bernardino County Nonprofit Assistance Fund. The funding is a welcome boost for nonprofits in San Bernardino County that have struggled to maintain their operations while experiencing a greater demand for their services.

The grants were made in the amounts of $2,500-$20,000 and awarded to organizations to reimburse COVID-related expenses that were incurred in response to the pandemic or to mitigate the effects of COVID on their operations.

The San Bernardino County Nonprofit Assistance Fund was created after the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors approved $5 million in financial support to the nonprofit community using CARES Act funding. While IECF managed the application and review process, the County dispersed the grants to nonprofits IECF approved for funding.

“Nonprofits in our county provide vital, life-saving services to our residents and the pandemic has stretched their resources and capacity,” said Board of Supervisors Chairman Curt Hagman. “We are grateful for the work they do to serve all of our communities during this challenging time.”

“We sincerely want to thank the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors for making these funds available at such a critical time for nonprofits,” said Michelle Decker, IECF CEO. “This crisis is far from over, but through partnerships like these, we can have an even greater impact.”

Dignity Health-Inland Empire awards over $250,000 to local nonprofits

Community Hospital of San Bernardino (CHSB) and St. Bernardine Medical Center (SBMC) granted a total of $254,727 to four, nonprofit organizations who are making a difference for the local, underserved communities by addressing human trafficking, housing, legal services, and general health care offerings.

CHSB Hospital President, June Collison and SBMC Hospital President, Doug Kleam hosted a virtual awards celebration for the grantees. The Family Assistance Program received funding for their efforts towards aiding victims of human trafficking. The second grantee, the Legal Aid Foundation, provides legal services that help facilitate safety, stability, healthy home life, and access to health care. The Le-stonnac Clinic was granted essential funds to increase the number of community members seen at the free clinic who are currently uninsured. Lastly, Mary’s Mercy Center – Veronica’s Home of Mercy, received funds for its housing programs to aid abused women, with or without children.

“Through our Community Health Grant Program, we are able to work collaboratively to improve the well-being of the communities we serve,” shared Linda McDonald, Vice President of Mission Services, Dignity Health Southern California. “This year, the Inland Empire hospitals were able to increase our grant funds and are grateful to be partnering with organizations that strive to meet the diverse needs of the residents of San Bernardino.”

Since 1991, the Community Grants Program at Dignity Health has awarded nearly $80 million to 3,500 community-based health improvement projects. For more information, please visit dignity-health.org/about-us/community-health/grant-programs.

CSUSB’s First Peoples Coyote Rising program wins ISAN award

The First Peoples Coyote Rising program at Cal State San Bernardino was selected as one of this year’s recipients of the Indigenous Student Affairs Network’s (ISAN) Innovative Practice Award.

The ISAN Innovative Practice Award is given to an individual or program for creating and/or implementing an original or highly effective Indigenous Student Affairs program or practice on their campus or in their local community.

“It is an honor to be recognized by Indigenous Student Affairs Network (ISAN) for the ISAN Innovative Practice Award for work that our CSUSB’s Native American Outreach team has done in the execution of successful programming for incoming Native American students,” said Tiffany Bonner, director of the CSUSB Office of Outreach and Student Recruitment. “Our First Peoples Coyote Rising program was created to develop a sense of community and strengthen student engagement. The success of this program is in part from the support and generosity of the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians, as well as support from our on-campus partners, such as faculty, peer mentors and our First Peoples’ Center.”

“The program’s contributions listed in the nomination are clearly innovative,” said Cori Bazemore-James (Seneca), chair of ISAN, and Justin Rasmussen (Métis), chair of the ISAN Awards Selection Committee, in an email announcing the award. “The First Peoples Coyote Rising program is very deserving of this award.”

The First Peoples Coyote Rising is CSUSB’s summer bridge program designed specifically to support Native American students transitioning into CSUSB. The program focuses on aiding students to connect with Native American peer mentors, build community with campus supports, engage and network with Native community partners and members, and access valuable resources to promote a positive and strong student experience. The 2020 First Peoples Coyote Rising program was held virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The award will be presented virtually at ACPA21 at an ISAN/Native Indigenous Aboriginal Council (NAIC) Meeting, which will tentatively be held on Friday, March 5, from 1 to 3 p.m. EST.

Super Bowl LV: The Buccaneers defense overwhelms the Chiefs, as Tom Brady earns ring #7. How did they do it?

This year's Super Bowl was quite surprising. This past Sunday marked Super Bowl 55. It was a highly anticipated game that many (including myself) predicted would be close. But the Buccaneers had other ideas, defeating Kansas City 31-9. So how did the Bucs do it? Let's take a look.

Pressure on Mahomes:

If there's one thing we know about Patrick Mahomes is that he is a playmaker, but the Bucs limited that, specifically on the defensive line. Jason Pierre-Paul and crew constantly pressured Mahomes and made him scramble and make some tough throws. And, maybe we should have expected this. Four of the Chiefs' offensive linemen were out with injuries, and I had to switch positions. This meant the Bucs were basically going up against a second string O-Line, and they took advantage, which in turn led to constant pressure, sacks, and a couple forced INT's.

Limiting the Chiefs receiving core:

It is no secret that this Chiefs team had two of the best receivers in the game in WR Tyreek Hill and TE Travis Kelce, but the Buccaneers almost completely took them out, and this was due, according to Tyreek Hill, to some surprising defensive sets. Hill said that in the week leading up to the Super Bowl, the Chiefs were prepared to run their offense against mostly man coverage, but this didn't happen. The Buccaneers threw in a lot of zone defenses, mostly covering 3 and 4, and that kept Kansas City from making the big plays that win them games.

Offensive veterans turn back the clock:

The Buccaneers offense had quite a few weapons, but the ones that proved most valuable were the veterans: Rob Gronkowski, Antonio Brown, and of course, Tom Brady. Gronkowski and AB both found the end zone and combined for over 100 yards. And this is without mentioning the effort from 26-year-old Leonard Fournette and USC alumni Ronald Jones II's efforts in the run game, which kept the Chiefs guessing on defense.

Chiefs' self inflicted wounds:

As if the Bucs playing at the top of their game was bad enough for the defending champions, they didn't help themselves either. As mentioned, the offensive line constantly let pressure get to Mahomes, who was just getting beat up towards the end of the game. But, the receivers also weren't doing their part. On the plays Mahomes was able to keep alive, we saw many drops that kept the Chiefs from having a shot at a comeback. Combine that with 3rd down conversions given up and numerous undisciplined penalties, and you've got yourself a losing recipe.

So, in short, this is how the Buccaneers completely shut down the Chiefs. While it would have been a much better game if the Chiefs' offensive line was healthy, it's sports. The team that adapts the best comes out on top, and that was what we saw in Super Bowl 55. It'll be interesting to see how the Chiefs learn to adapt against defenses that shut down their big plays, and Travis Kelce, who went over for 100 yards, may have an increased role if they do go in that direction. However, this season, the Buccaneers are your NFL champions. It was great to see this season finish and next year will be even better. Until then, so long football!

San Bernardino County to become first SoCal Topgolf location

The venue will be located on 13.7 acres of undeveloped county-owned land adjacent to Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park at the corner of Archibald Avenue and Fourth Street in the City of Ontario, and is expected to be completed in early 2022.

The Board of Supervisors has placed San Bernardino County at the top of the leaderboard toward becoming the first Southern California home of Topgolf, an internationally renowned technology-enabled entertainment experience.

"Topgolf will be an outstanding entertainment asset that will attract people from all over Southern California to San Bernardino County," said Board of Supervisors Chairman Curt Hagman, whose Fourth District includes the future Topgolf site on county-owned land in Ontario. "The Topgolf concept appeals to all ages, and everyone will benefit from the revenue that will be directed toward the betterment of the county's Regional Parks system."

The county and Topgolf (<https://topgolf.com/us/>), a hugely popular sports and entertainment attraction with locations around the globe, entered into a 20-year lease agreement in 2019. Delayed by the COVID-19 pandemic, the deal is now set to go forward with construction activities beginning this month and completion anticipated for early 2022. The development is on 13.7 acres of undeveloped county-owned land adjacent to Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park at the corner of Archibald Avenue and Fourth Street in the City of Ontario.

The agreement will bring in more than $625,000 a year to support the county's system of regional parks (<https://parks.sbcounty.gov/>).

Topgolf plans to build a nearly 600,000-square foot facility at the county site, which will be similar in size and scope to other multi-level Topgolf venues. The new location will feature 102 hitting bays on three floors, plus a full-service restaurant and bar and event space for corporate and social events. The venue also plans to incorporate a mini-golf component at a later date for all to enjoy.

In addition to the jobs that will be created during construction, Topgolf will hire more than 400 employees once the venue is completed and operational.

Chairman Hagman came up with the idea of using the land for a golf-related attraction and shared that with the County Real Estate Services Department, which approached Topgolf.

"The County Real Estate Services Department deserves a lot of praise and credit for reaching out to Topgolf with the idea of making county-owned land the company's first Southern California location," Chairman Hagman said.

"Topgolf chose the County of San Bernardino due to its convenient regional location to the Inland Empire, strong retail performance, and large and growing population base," said Chris Callaway, Chief Development Officer with Topgolf. "Being positioned just north of I-10 and west of I-15 enables our Topgolf venue to connect with and entertain many communities and businesses throughout the region."

"San Bernardino County has been great to work with and has been very business-friendly. Throughout the deal process, they solved issues as we progressed in finalizing the transaction, and we look forward to continuing our strong partnership together," Callaway added.

The Topgolf concept is built on a foundation of community, inclusivity and fun, and is truly a game for everyone. The technology-driven experience is centered on guests hitting patented, microchipped golf balls into targets on the outfield while playing classic Topgolf games. Guests can also enjoy a chef-driven food and beverage menu in their outdoor hitting bays while safely enjoying the outdoor fun. What started as a simple idea to enhance the game of golf has now evolved into a best-in-class hospitality entertainment venue centered on a game that is accessible and appealing to all, regardless of skill or ability. The dynamic atmosphere, engaging staff, and innovative games combine to provide a truly unique experience.

Over the course of the initial 20-year ground lease, once construction is completed and Topgolf is open for business, the county will receive more than $625,000 in annual revenue, benefiting the San Bernardino County Regional Parks system, which includes nine regional parks throughout the county and several other recreational attractions.

The County Real Estate Services Department first approached Topgolf more than four years ago. Given the location of the land coupled with the socio-economic demographics of the area and recreational use restrictions, the county believed that Topgolf was an ideal fit for the site and developed a strategy to attract the company.

Part of the county's initial outreach strategy to Topgolf included the county retaining the services of JLL Retail Group in Ontario. On the county's behalf, JLL made contact with Topgolf's brokerage representatives from The Retail Connection out of Dallas, Texas. Those connections facilitated the county's introduction to Topgolf, which led to initial discussions and negotiations for Topgolf to lease the land from the county. This strategic initiative by the county resulted in the ground lease deal with Topgolf that was approved by the Board of Supervisors on April 30, 2019.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF:
ARNOLD C. ZAVALA
CASE NO.
PROPS21000066

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of ARNOLD C. ZAVALA.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by JULIE ZAVALA HOOPER in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN BERNARDINO.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that JULIE ZAVALA HOOPER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 03/08/21 at 9:00AM in Dept. S36 located at 247 WEST THIRD STREET, SAN BERNARDINO, CA 92415
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
